My letter was about a woman talking about the west and how she farmed.

What was your letter about?

My letter was about a woman writing to her friend about what she can remember on her long journey heading toward where she needed to go.

Who was the letter written to?

The letter was written to Mrs. Coney.

Who was your letter written to?

The letter was written to Elizabeth Stewart's friend.
Who wrote your letter?

The person who wrote this letter was Elinor Pruitt Stewart.

How did your woman feel in her letter?

I think the woman in the letter felt mad because people left other people behind and they had to travel a mile for water everyday.

Did the person in your letter have good or bad experiences?

My person had good experience.

What happened in your letter to the woman?

The letter was about the woman making it to the place she wanted to be.